Dear Sir/Madam

Re: AIPD Submission to the Draft National Consumer Credit Protection Bill 2009

As discussed by telephone with Alix Gallo of your office on Tuesday 28 April 2009, the Institute respectfully requests formal consultation with appropriate Treasury officers to discuss our submission in relation to this important Draft Bill.

Our formal 'in-confidence', until 30th May 2009, submission is attached hereto for the Department's due consideration.

We believe the Institute's contribution (if included in the new Act) would, in summary, provide the following positives:-

- Improvement in the Credit Provider Process for all Australian Consumers, Government, the Financial Services Industry, Mercantile and Investigation Industry and all Stakeholders;
- Achievement of 'benchmarks' in the standards and compliance of Credit Providers' mercantile processes and applications;
- Achievement of uniformity across Australia in the standards and compliance of Credit Providers' mercantile processes and applications;

After perusal of our submission we would be grateful if an officer of the Department could contact the writer to arrange a mutually suitable meeting date between relevant AIPD directors and Treasury officers to discuss the matters raised in our submission.

We note that we have not been included on the Stakeholders Register and we would request that consideration be given for the AIPD to be included on the Register.

Yours faithfully

John Bracey
President AIPD
